RECOLLECTIONS AND REFLECTIONS OF A JAPANESE ARTIST

By Yoshio Markino. 8vo. Cloth. Frontispiece and eight illustrations in color and six in monochrome by the author. $2.00 net

The charming intimacies which were given in the author's previous book, "A Japanese Artist in London," are here continued. Mr. Markino's style is indescribable; frankness, originality of expression, and spontaneity are the chief characteristics. The book takes the form of a series of essays covering the author's quaint conclusions on various subjects. Some of the chapter headings are: "Friendship," "My New Studio," "Emotion and Etymology," "Memory and Imagination," "The Human Insincerity." In quaint language, that is not quite English, but is singularly expressive, he speaks with candor, yet with restraint.

A SILENT PEAL FROM THE LIBERTY BELL

By Adaline May Conway, A.M., Ph.D. 12mo. Five illustrations. Boards, 50 cents net. Leather, stamped in gold, boxed. $1.50 net

A description of the greatest of the relics of American patriotism. The bell tells the story of its life in the first person as if it were looking back on the 162 years since it was cast in a London smeltery. It discourses on the great part that came to play in the opening of the Revolution, of its daily use in the commemoration of the patriotic events and in this autobiographical fashion relates the intimate part it took in the stirring events that marked the early history of this country up to the time when it tolled for the last time at the funeral of Chief Justice Marshall, July 8, 1835.

PETER PIPER

By Doris Egerton Jones. 12mo. Cloth. Wrapper and frontispiece in full color by Henry J. Peck. $1.25 net

"Peter Piper" is a breezy tale of ranch and town life in Australia, full of refreshing humor and genuine pathos. The theme is that of an innocent girl, who through no fault of her own, becomes blameworthy. The world at large knows nothing of this, but the fact radically affects her outlook on life. The story, told in the first person as if told to a friend, fascinates from beginning to end, while the writer's epigrammatic and witty style is most delightful. It is an essentially clean book of singular charm.

THE WAY OF THE STRONG

By Ridgwell Cullum, author of "The Night Riders," "The Watchers of the Plains," etc. 12mo. Cloth. Wrapper and frontispiece in full color and three illustrations in black and white by Douglas Duer. $1.35 net

The gold fields of the Yukon, California, and the wheat fields of Northwest Canada form the background on which Mr. Cullum has painted a picture of the struggles of primitive man with the forces of Nature. Elemental passion, intense action, and mystery are interwoven to make a picture that grapples and holds the attention like hoops of steel. The love story of Monica and Alexander Hendrie, the wheat king, looms large on the canvas. Mr. Cullum's gift of narration and power in character drawing are shown in their fullest development. It is a story such as a man writes but once in a lifetime.

8 Vols. HALF CLOTH 1.50 NET.

BIRD PARADISE

By John Bartlett Wicks. 12mo. Cloth. Ten illustrations from photographs. $1.25 net

An intimate account of a lifelong friendship with bird neighbors told in simple narrative. For years Mr. Wicks has loved the birds, and in his walks through summer woods or snow-clad marshes he has studied his little feathered friends and learned to know their haunts and their habits. In describing these, no technical terms are used, the author preferring the simple words of every day life. Following in order the changing seasons of the year, the book makes a helpful guide in the study of bird life. It will be welcomed by every lover of the feathered tribe.

REDUCING THE COST OF LIVING

By Scott Nearing, Ph.D., Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. Author of "Wages in the United States," "Financing the Wage Earner's Family," "Social Adjustment," etc. 12mo. Cloth, with numerous tables. $1.25 net

More interesting than any novel is this comprehensive discussion of the problems that enter into the ever-increasing cost of living. The book is clear, concise and logical. Theories, facts, and conclusions take the reader into the very heart of the most vital question that confronts the present century. In the final analysis "The Increasing Gold Supply," "Industrial Combination and Monopoly," "The Increase in Land Values," "Taxation," simply lead up to this greater question. Doctor Nearing's years of investigation as Instructor of Economics at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, his recent books on sociological problems, his ability to express himself in language that can be understood by the average reader, well qualify him to undertake a work of this character.

THE A B C OF INDIAN ART

By J. F. Blacker. 8vo. Cloth. Forty-eight full-page illustrations. $2.00 net

A complete survey of the art of India. Palaces, temples and tombs represent the architecture; armor, musical instruments, jewelry and metal work show the craftsmanship; paintings and carvings in wood and marble are carefully dealt with, while idols in stone, wood and bronze speak of the inspiration of religion.

MORE ABOUT COLLECTING

By James Yoxall, author of "The A B C About Collecting." 8vo. Cloth. Forty-eight full-page illustrations. $2.00 net

This book continues, amplifies, enlarges, and deepens the range of "The A B C About Collecting." It gives a full account of Old Blown Glass, Old Cut Glass, Porcelain, Old Silver, Prints, and Furniture. It is written in the interesting enlightening style which characterized the former book, so that readers who have little experience in collecting may find exactly the information they require, expressed in a simple style, in understandable terms.

HOW TO PLAY GOLF

By Harry Vardon. 12mo. Cloth. Illustrated. A new and cheaper edition. $1.00 net

One of the greatest golf players in the history of the game gives in this book the most up-to-date instruction in the methods of playing the modern game as it has developed since the introduction of the rubber-cored ball. He tells the beginner all he needs to know about golf and describes the shots lucidly and pointedly. It is absolutely practical and gives definite instruction. There are forty-eight illustrations of Mr. Vardon in action, illustrating the points made.

HOW TO WIN AT AUCTION BRIDGE—"ROYAL SPADES" WITH "NULLOS"

By Edwyn Anthony. Small 12mo. Limp Cloth. With the rules and specimen hands. 75 cents net

A new work on "Auction Bridge," dealing with the game in its most interesting form, "Royal Spades," and giving a full exposition of the nullo count. The author sets forth in the most clear and concise manner the many fascinating points in Auction Bridge, with the result that the book is a very serviceable guide. There are several helpful diagrams and tables dealing with the system of scoring, which, together with the discussion on the theory of the game, render the rules and instructions easy of understanding.

LOW-COST RECIPES

By Edith G. Harbison, former editor of "Table Talk Magazine." Small 12mo. Cloth. 75 cents net

This book gives recipes for all times and for all occasions. In view of the high cost of living, however, all the recipes have been prepared with the view of helping the housewife to keep down costs. Special attention is given to the use of left-overs.

NOTE.—The new parcel-post rates make it impossible for us to state carriage charges. Send one-tenth of the published price of the book, and if there is any excess, we will return it with the book.

DANIEL WEBSTER (American Crisis Biographies)

By Frederic A. Ogg, Ph. D., Associate Professor of History in Simmons College Boston, and author of "The Governments of Europe." 12mo. Cloth. With portrait. $1.25 ne

A study of Webster from a new point of view, but with all historical data carefully verified. The man Webster is brought out in strong contrast to the statesman and publicist.

ULYSSES S. GRANT (American Crisis Biographies)

By Prof. Franklin S. Edmonds, Author of "A Century's Progress in Education." 12mo. Cloth. With Frontispiece portrait. $1.25 ne

The author could hardly have chosen a more opportune time for his life of Grant, this year being the fiftieth anniversary of the Potomac campaign. Mr. Edmonds' access to a number of unpublished letters and family papers insures some interesting reading on a timely subject.

The publication of these two volumes completes the Series of "American Crisis Biographies," which, in the lives of men who were prominent figures in the time preceding and during the war, gives a complete, accurate, and unbiased History of the Civil War, with its causes and effects.

The twenty biographies included are divided equally between the North and the South, and the fact that the writers selected are authorities belonging to the younger generation secures for their work freedom from any war-time prejudice.

The American Crisis Biographies are edited by Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, Ph.D. with the counsel and advice of Prof. John B. McMaster, of the University of Pennsylvania.

"This series of biographies is the most ambitious attempt ever made to collect in one series the lives of the men who led the United States through the greatest crisis in the Country's history."—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A KNIGHT OF THE CROSS

By Lawrence B. Saint. Eight illustrations in color, cover picture and decorations by the author. 8vo. Cloth. $1.50

A modern allegory of the Christian life. The Knight of the Cross, clad in the armor of the Christian faith, travels along a way sometimes smooth and pleasant, sometimes rough and dangerous. He meets friends who aid him and enemies whom he has to fight. Light-Heart, Obedience, Trust, and Thoughtfulness all help and encourage him, while he is hindered and sometimes almost overcome by such foes as Lust, Materialism, Despair, and Hate. After many a narrow escape and many an exciting adventure, he at last reaches his journey's end and enters the Celestial City. Although an allegory, the story is very real, with a freshness and a vigor about it that will enlist and hold the attention of young and old alike, while the charm of its symbolism is delightful.

Kiddie Land

By Margaret G. Hays. With numerous text and full-page illustrations by Grace G. Wiederseim, seven of which are in full color. 8vo. Boards; with colored paste-on cover. $.50 net.

It is not necessary to say anything here of Mrs. Wiederseim's inimitable work. The mere fact that the book bears her name will be sufficient recommendation.

Kiddie Rhymes

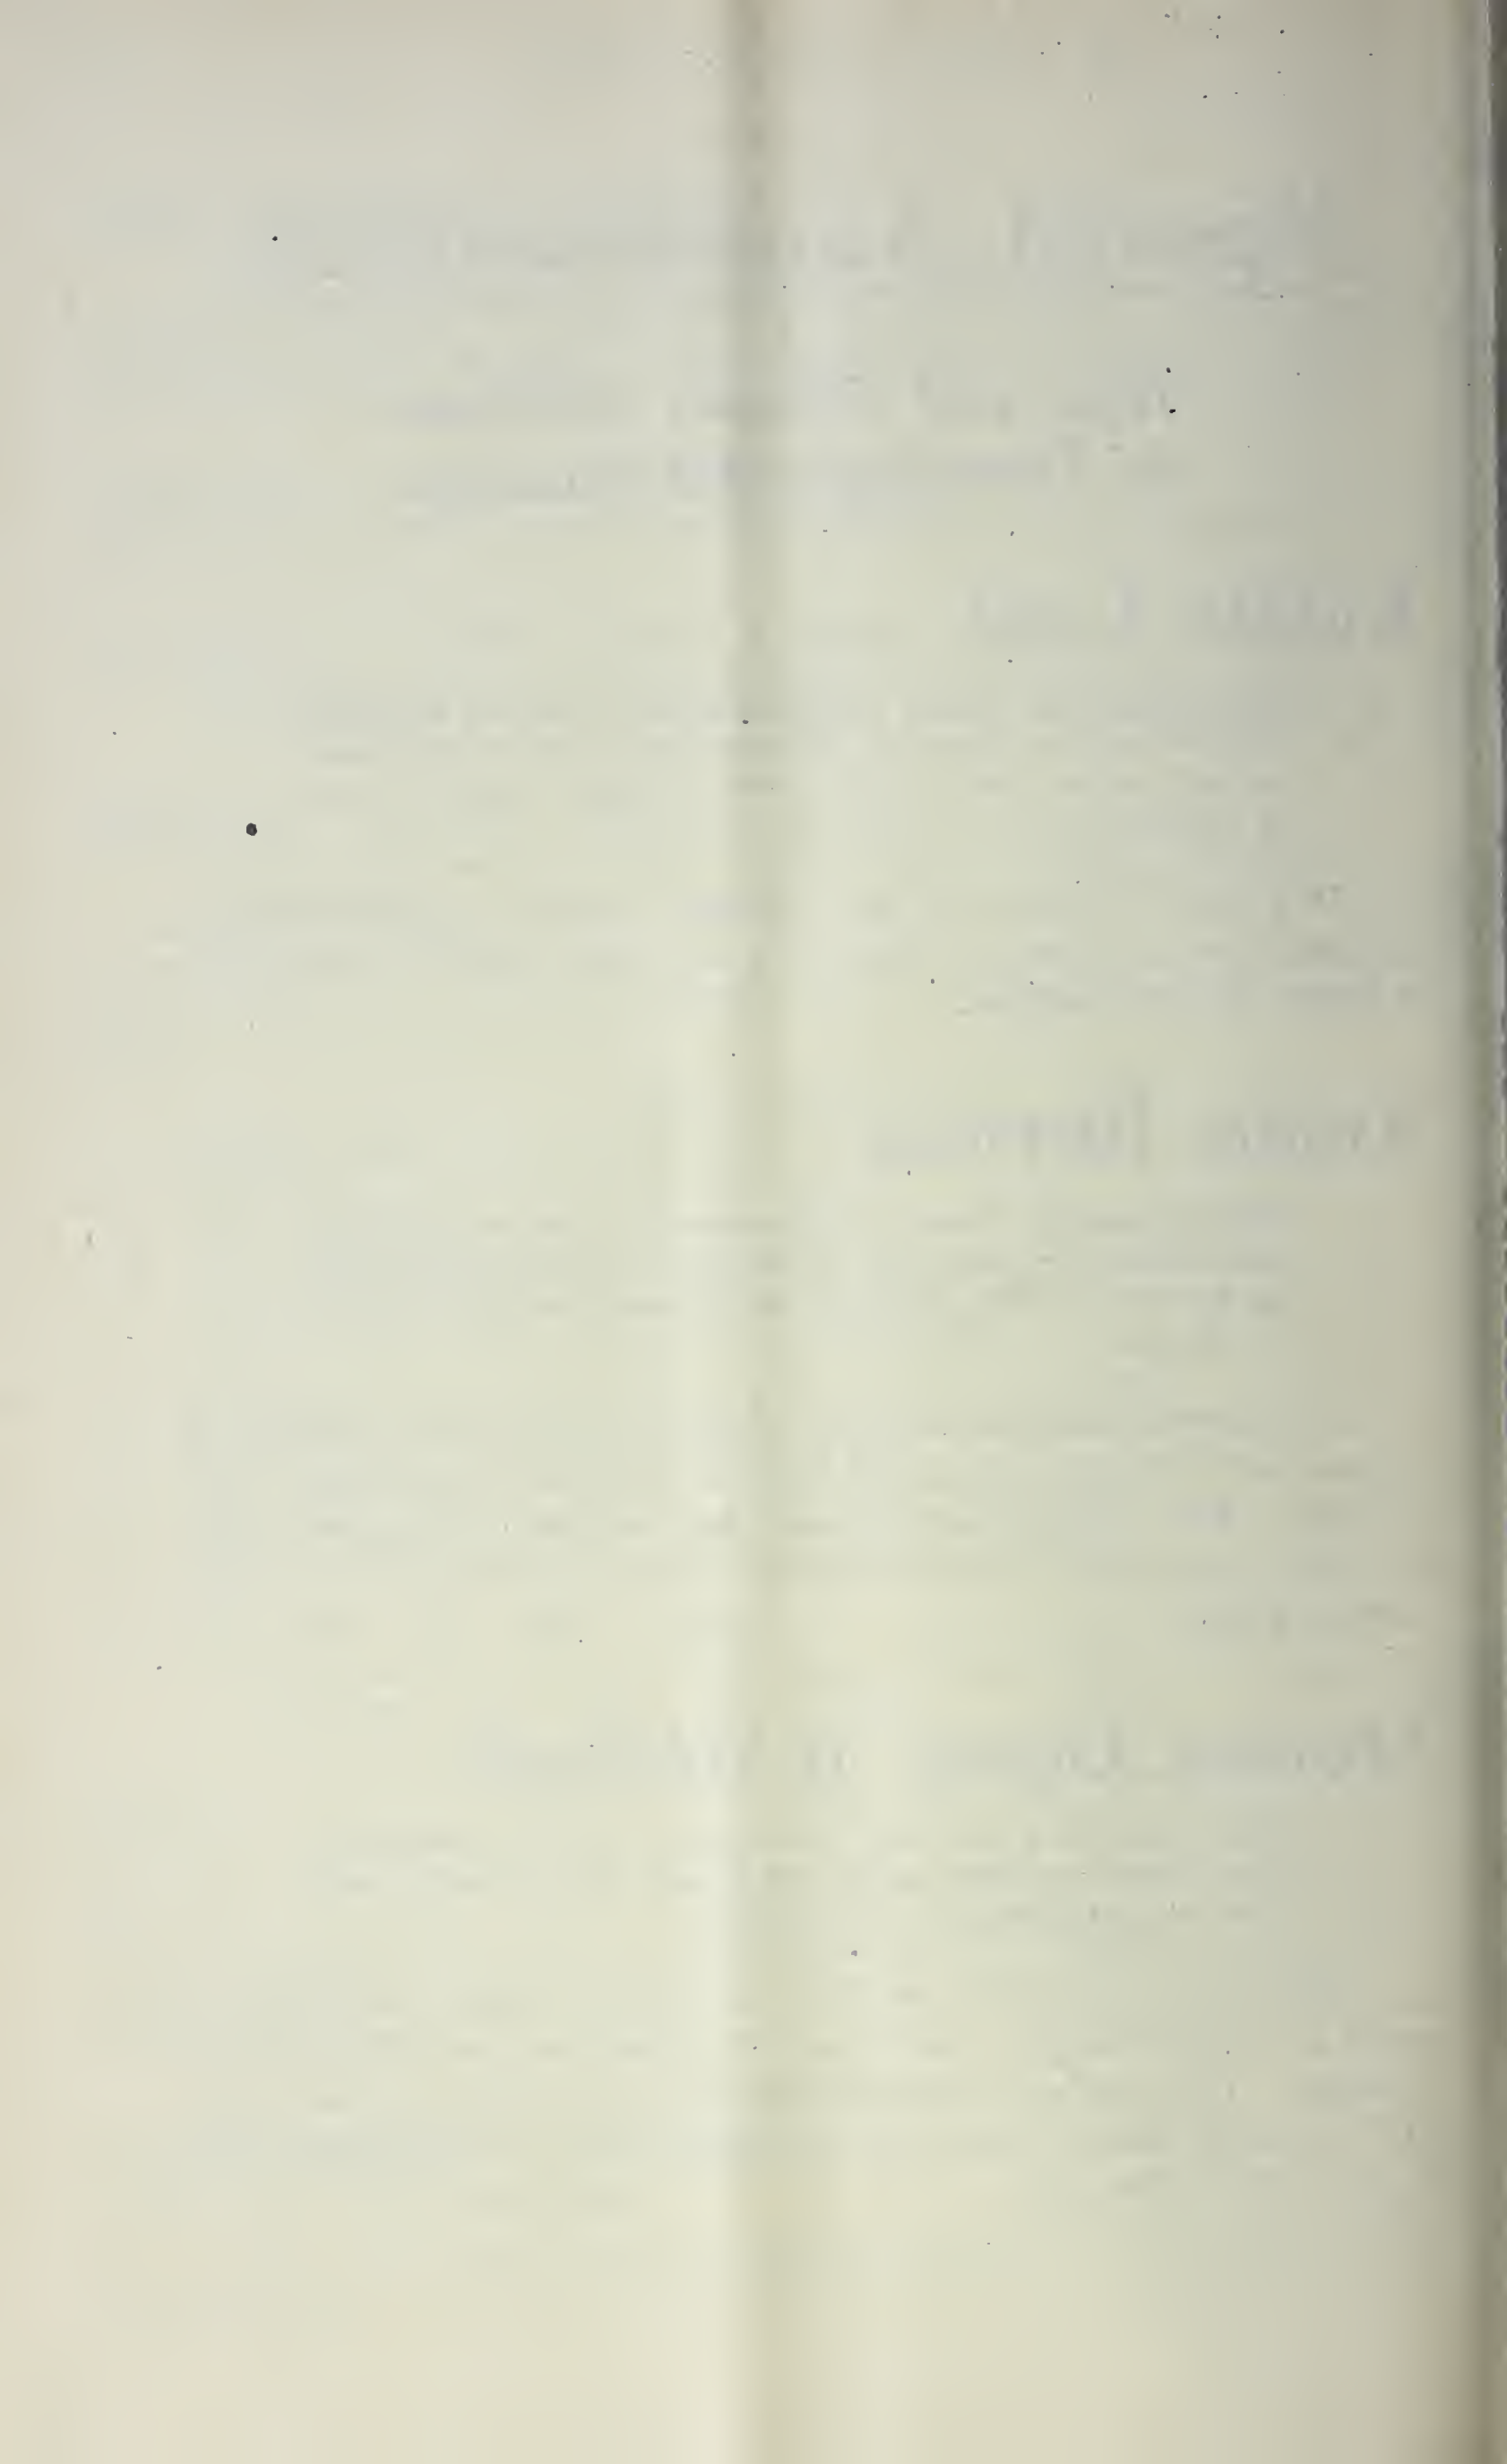

By Margaret G. Hays. With numerous text and full-page illustrations by Grace G. Wiederseim, seven of which are in full color. 8vo. Boards; with colored paste-on cover. $.50 net.

A delightful collection of verses for small children, just the kind of jingles that little people love, with touches of humor that appeal to the tiny folk. Mrs. Wiederseim's illustrations could not be improved upon; they depict the exact ideas expressed by the verses, and one turns to them again and again.

Mother Goose in Holland

With numerous full-page illustrations by May Audubon Post, seven of which are in full color. 8vo. Boards; with colored paste-on cover. $.50 net.

The feature of this edition of the old Mother Goose standbys is the series of illustrations by Miss Post, all representing cute little Dutch children. The printing is done in large black type and on good paper, and the whole book is so quaint and artistic that it will appeal marvelously to the little ones.

BOB HUNT AT CAMP PONTIAC

By George W. Orton, Ph.D., author of "Distance and Cross Country Running." Colored wrappers and paste-on. Five illustrations in two colors by William F. Taylor. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00 net

A story of camp life for boys. Doctor Orton writes out of the fullness of his experience. For years he has conducted a large camp for boys in the New Hampshire woods. While at college he made an enviable reputation as an athlete, and at the present time is successor to the late "Mike" Murphy, the veteran trainer at the University of Pennsylvania. His ability to get the boys' point of view, and to put into the book his wide knowledge of athletics in all branches, woodcraftsmanship, and the many interesting details of camp life, combine to make a book that is not only interesting but instructive.

THE POLLY PAGE CAMPING CLUB

By Izola L. Forrester, author of "The Polly Page Motor Club," etc. 12mo. Cloth, with picture on cover. Five full-page illustrations by Anna Garrett, printed on tinted background. $1.00 net

The delightful times which Polly Page and her chums enjoyed on their last vacation are continued this summer. This year they are at a camp beside a delightful lake. How girls could get more real enjoyment and wholesome fun out of it is impossible for us to imagine. Her ever-increasing circle of friends will be glad to hear all about it.

THE SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON (The Washington Square Classics)

By Johann David Wyss. Set in bold-faced type and printed on fine white paper. Cover picture and seven illustrations in full color by Elenore Plaister Abbott. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00 net

This new edition of Swiss Family Robinson is based on the translation made by Mrs. H. B. Paull for the Chandos Classics which was published in London about half a century ago. It is generally accepted as the best of the many translations of this popular work. Enhanced by seven beautiful and sympathetic illustrations in color by Mrs. Abbott, it fills a long-felt need for an attractive and inexpensive edition of this book.

HISTORIC HEROES OF CHIVALRY

By Rupert S. Holland, author of "Historic Boyhoods," "Historic Girlhoods," etc. Sixteen full-page illustrations. Large 12mo. Cloth. Decorated cover. $1.50 net

Mr. Holland here gives us the stories of the deeds of the chivalrous heroes of history as distinct from the heroes of romance. But who will say that they are less interesting. Who of us, children or grown-ups, do not love to read of the daring exploits of Richard the Lion Hearted; William Tell, the Deliverer of Switzerland; Robert Bruce, of Scotland; and Gustavus Adolphus, Lion of the North. The imaginative appeal of these chivalrous knights of old, their deeds of honor, their bravery, their championship of women, are qualities that we cannot too deeply instill into the hearts of the younger generation.

BRAVE DEEDS OF UNION SOLDIERS

By Samuel Scoville, Jr. Eight full-page illustrations. Large 12mo. Cloth. Decorated cover. $1.50 net

Mr. Scoville handles these episodes in a forceful, interesting and educational style, that is free from sensationalism and unnecessary descriptions of bloodshed. The patriotic appeal which has been the watchword of the preceding books in the series will endear the new volume to the hearts of young America.
